

MACLEAN'S

"CANADA'S NATIONAL MAGAZINE"

July 1st

All Fiction
Number

Maud
Joussy
Fangel

My wife asked me to do this

Now I offer you a new delight —an olive oil shampoo

By V. K. CASADY, S.E. M.C., Chit. Clinician

My wife told me the subtlest thing she could want a shampoo that would not leave her dry and break. She said it was washed in. And what to try my head—I was that clean as a politician.

Now I have one—Olive Oil to be used by world authorities on hair beauty.
I should stress it a favor for you to use it. And then to give me your opinion.

A more gentle way

I found that most shampoos were too harsh, that while they cleaned they took the life and luster from the hair.
Years of women told me this. And,

yes, famous specialists of the scalp, as I am not to perform a thorough cleanse, yet one mild and gentle, which would leave that damp clean which adds so to one's charm.

A scientific creation

Thousands of women, many famous beauties, have written me already they my results are a revelation.

Yes, hair shines.

The only wringing—shampooing and bubbling.

Yes—gloriously, gloriously clean, as naturally after a shampoo?

I think you will think me for offering this scientific way to you.

Write to Chicago.

PALMOLIVE
SHAMPOO

© 1928 Maclean's Magazine, Inc.

FREE TO YOU

All These Best Sellers
of 1923 Fiction

Out of the poignant depths of Don't Valley struggles the heroic Wasteland, chief character of Zane Grey's

"Wanderer of the Wasteland"

This is but one of the dramatic incidents of the big story.
Zane Grey offers to his enormous audience as the supreme effort of his best work.

This and any of the following books from the pens of famous writers are free to you.

Make Your Choice From This Big List

- "Nightmare"—Robert Stead.
- "The Dust Flower"—Basil King.
- "Blue Water"—Frederick William Wallace.
- "The Code of the Kanjars"—Henry W. Kausay.
- "Sir or Madam"—Bertha Rock.
- "Mama Chaperone"—Lena Herman.
- "Secret Places of the Heart"—H. G. Wells.
- "Possession"—Maurice de Roche.
- "Men Like Gods"—H. G. Wells.
- "Windows of the Wilderness"—C. D. G. Roberts.
- "The Scoundrels"—Irving Bacheller.
- "The Barge of Hounded Lives"—J. Aubrey Tysan.

"Don't come any nearer I tell you"—skipped the most hysterical rough as the strange ghost figure rose majestically like a cobra about to strike. (Flowing Gold.)

Ken Bush knows no equal as the writer of tales of the mining camps—"Flowing Gold"

he takes you into the heart of the mine as a really chosen road and carries you through a thrilling struggle for survival.

This fine story too is among the free books we offer you

Any of these big new books are free—Read our offer

You all have heard me should be reading MACLEAN'S regularly. And then for these subscriptions, and for every one of our 1000 are sent to us with each year period and five of charge any book from our store. (Maclean's). A free book with every one year subscription to MACLEAN'S is a $1.00.

USE THIS COUPON

Subscription Order		Free Book Coupon
I enclose $1.00 for each year and MACLEAN'S MAGAZINE for one year to		My choice of above books is:
Name: _____		Please forward in this and postage to:
Address: _____		Name: _____
_____		Address: _____

JANNETTA
Canada's Favorite
HAIR NET

Extra Large
Strong
Invisible

Cap and Fringe Shape,
Single or Double Strand

10¢

JANNETTA
HAIR SETS

Lower the heads of multitudes of discriminating women in Canada—the invisible guardians that keep stray tenders and wandering licks in place.

Sold Exclusively at and Guaranteed by F.W. WOOLWORTH CO.
 5-10 and 15¢ Store LIMITED

2000年11月10日
2000年11月10日

MACLEAN'S

[illegible]J. VERNON MCKENZIE, Edgar J. L. BUTLER, JR., Archie

A NOVELTIE, COMPLETE IN THIS ISSUE

THE BANNER OF THE BULL

R. RAFAEL SABATINI

E.L. CHARTERIS AND D.S. CHAMBERS AND H.A. DUNN

THREE Secretary of State of the Supreme of Theaters support his trade across the bridge that spans the Rhine and, drawing near, offers the bread of the town of Strasbourg, where it is said. On the right is the town of Strasbourg, where it is said. On the right is the town of Strasbourg, where it is said.

The secretary hastened. The answer was ready to almost choke, as he came to the door, a man of the here things might have been with Dennis Hopper. "I was parked for... completing the tale of a release which he tried to increase already by the thought of the 'Seven'. The story pointed to the gap in his head wanted him to be... otherwise his imagination, but he was not a..."

On come the glittering riders, laughing and shouting, and at their head as a parental black horse rode a splendid team, all steel from head to foot.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

The E.ON-Gas design-build approach at the northern edge of Paris, enveloping a site which forms the St Charles district around existing housing. Chapsal is architect, engineer and business plan lead, one of the fewer firms, whose reputation and resources were crucial to the site and

It was not a surprise that E.ON-Gas technology was the the apartment. In an open back like the children lay in wings of themselves toward scattered hair with the emotion of the distance which had few later memories from those more in the old back country in. One time, told me when I was in with a group of men greeting in the dark and someone wrote the language to give me an idea with a play that found to move her

with and before the grateful
Pine Pilgrims

A well-balanced food

Because Grape-Nuts is made from the whole wheat kernel and malted barley, it contains all the good food value of these famous grains, in concentrated form. Phosphorus, iron and other mineral matter to repair tissue, build bone and muscle; carbohydrates to produce heat and energy; easily digested; flavor that bespeaks the wholesome goodness it contains—Grape-Nuts is a well-balanced food. Give it to the children. Serve it regularly to the whole family. It's a crisp, crunchy cereal everybody will enjoy. Economical, too—many servings in a package.

"There's a Reason"

Grape-Nuts

THE BODY-BUILDER

Canadian Postum Cereal Company, Limited
Head Office: Toronto Factory: Windsor